Subject: Public Safety Identification Numbers Required for District Training

Purpose

The purpose of this information bulletin is to communicate information pertaining to the district training initiative. Persons that want to attend any training courses provided by the district training initiative must have a public safety identification (PSID) number.

General

Attendance at a district training initiative course will require responders to have a PSID number. First responders who do not have a PSID number or do not know their PSID number may get them by visiting the PSID webpage at <http://www.in.gov/dhs/3207.htm>. PSID numbers are required on all training applications for District Training Initiative courses in order for your IDHS training transcript to be kept current.

Questions

Any questions pertaining to PSID numbers may be submitted to psidquestions@dhs.in.gov. Any questions pertaining to this District Information Bulletin may be directed to Randy Collins at Rcollins@dhs.in.gov or by calling (317) 238-1762.
